INFORMATION, PROCEDURES AND RULES

A nomination may be submitted by the candidate herself, by another person or by a business/organization in one or more of these following seven (7) categories:

CATEGORIES	ELIGIBILITY CRITERIA
Business and Entrepreneurship	She is an entrepreneur, manager, or professional. Her colleagues recognize her constant commitment to excellence. She has generated positive and long-lasting changes that open the way for growth and development. She demonstrates respect and commitment to her business, clients, and colleagues.
Arts, Culture and Design	She enriches society through her talent and engagement, whether in the visual arts, literature, architecture, design, or performing arts. She encourages creative work and the promotion and development of the arts, design, and culture.
Social and Environmental Engagement	She is actively engaged in a social or environmental cause. Her practical contributions to sustainable and responsible social development are guided by the values of social equity, justice and mutual aid.
Information and Education	She excels in the art of informing others with inspiring, enriching, and effective messages. Using her excellent communication skills, she stimulates in others the desire to learn and become informed.
Public Services	She works in the public or parapublic sector. Her role involves listening to her community's needs and defending their interests with conviction. She is the voice of change because with her words and acts she sparks action.
Research and Innovation	Her research and the innovative concepts it brings forward generate significant change in her field and in society. She is a visionary who puts her work to practical use.
Sport and Health/Wellness	Her work is to promote and develop health, physical activity, and wellness in her community. She brings about positive long-lasting change by encouraging people in her community to change some of their habits and prioritize healthy lifestyle choices, for both their bodies and their minds.

ELIGIBILITY CRITERIA

Candidates must:

- Meet the requirements specific to the applied category or categories;
 - The Women's Y Foundation reserves the right to modify without notice, the choice of category of any candidate, if it deems necessary.
- Validate the accuracy of the application if submitted by a third party, before sending it to the Foundation;
- Not have been active in politics for at least twelve (12) months or not plan to be at the time of the selection of the winner;
 - This condition only applies to elected or former elected officials of municipal, provincial or federal political parties.
- Reside in one of the administrative regions of Quebec for at least 6 (six) months;
 - Since 2019, we have extended the territory of eligibility for the Women of Distinction Awards at the provincial level. However, the winners living in remote cities are responsible for paying their travel expenses for any activity organized for the Women of Distinction Awards (video shooting, media interview, unveiling of laureates, awards ceremony)
- Visit the YWCA of Montreal and its Foundation to better understand its mission, its initiatives and its various programs and services;
- Be available for video shootings (if necessary);
- Attend the Women of Distinction Awards (date to be confirmed)

Becoming a recipient of the 2021 Women of Distinction Awards also means becoming an ambassador for the YWCA Montreal and its Foundation*:

Becoming an ambassador means...

- Supporting the objectives and promotional activities of the Women's Y Foundation by*:
 - The gift of speech: sharing your commitment with the YWCA Montreal and its Foundation in your different networks (social, professional, etc.);
 - The sharing of expertise: being open to share your expertise and life experiences during activities held at the YWCA Montreal, once the award has been given;
 - ❖ Example: help women to develop their ability to act effectively or their leadership through conferences, lunch discussions, inspiring meetings with participants of the YWCA Montreal, etc.

- The gift of giving: because the mission of the Women's Y Foundation is to seek funding to ensure the development of YWCA Montreal programs and services, the laureate may, on a voluntary basis, support the Foundation with a personal donation or by organizing a fundraising activity.
- Be available for interviews with print, radio and/or television media to promote the YWCA Montreal through its Women of Distinction Awards (if necessary).

 The above items are optional, but are greatly appreciated.*
